First Aid Problem

Warren Buffett was a scaler operator working on level 3 of the Solid Rock Mine near the SW2xNE52 heading. Cory Allen, working the next heading, heard a ripping sound and then a loud crash. When Cory went to investigate the sound, he saw the excavator, Warren was operating while scaling, partially covered with a rock slab. Warren, conscious and talking, complains of pain in his right leg. The rock slab has been moved away from the cab of the excavator.
